

CT Pre-exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP)

Local Medical Services

HIV PREVENTION PROGRAM • April, 2018

If you believe you were exposed to HIV in the past 72 hours (3 days), go immediately to an emergency room or urgent care clinic and ask for HIV Post-Exposure Prophylaxis (PEP)

What is Pre-exposure Prophylaxis (PrEP)?

“PrEP” stands for Pre-Exposure Prophylaxis. The word “prophylaxis” means to prevent or control the spread of an infection or disease. Pre-exposure prophylaxis is the use of antiretroviral (ARV) medication by HIV-negative individuals at high risk of HIV infection to reduce their risk.

As of December, 2016 the single FDA-approved option for PrEP is once-daily dosing of a medicine called Truvada® (emtricitabine/tenofovir). Truvada was approved for use as PrEP in 2012 but has been used successfully as a component of HIV treatment since 2005. When a negative person is exposed to HIV through sex or injection drug use, these medicines can work to keep the virus from establishing a permanent infection – keeping the individual HIV-negative. PrEP is currently recommended for certain sexually active gay, bisexual and other men who have sex with men (MSM), heterosexually active men and women, and intravenous drug users (IDU). The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that 1 in 4 MSM and 1 in 5 IDU might be good candidates for PrEP. More information on PrEP is available on the CDC website.

Why take PrEP?

With 50,000 new HIV infections each year in the United States, and no cure or vaccine available, prevention is key. PrEP has been shown to be highly effective and when taken every day may reduce a person’s risk of getting HIV by more than 90%. PrEP can be used in combination with condoms and other risk-reduction methods for even greater protection. Most people experience few if any side effects when taking PrEP.

How do I get PrEP?

PrEP is only available by prescription. If you are interested in PrEP and do not have somewhere you regularly receive medical care or have had difficulty discussing PrEP with your doctor or nurse practitioner, please refer to the following list. These facilities all have at least one provider

Connecticut Department of Public Health
410 Capitol Avenue, Hartford, CT 06134
www.ct.gov/dph

experienced with PrEP and offer respectful medical care to populations including MSM, IDU, and LGBT individuals. Some providers have indicated they have weekend and evening hours.

How do I pay for PrEP?

- Uninsured: You may qualify for free or low-cost health insurance. View your options at www.accesshealthct.com
- Insured: The maker of Truvada offers up to $4,800/year of medication co-pay assistance, regardless of financial need (no application required, just enter your information): www.gileadcopay.com. There are also other resources such as the Patient Access Network or the Patient Advocate Foundation that may be able to assist with the cost of Truvada. Speak with any medical providers below for more info.
- Not eligible for insurance: Choose a federally qualified health center (FQHC) – these clinics will see undocumented and other patients ineligible for insurance on a sliding-scale fee basis. The maker of Truvada can provide PrEP medication free of cost (application required, needs doctor's signature): www.gileadadvancingaccess.com/get-started-advancing-access

All major health insurance companies and state-provided insurance in CT will cover PrEP medication and the necessary medical care. Depending on your plan, you may be responsible for co-pays, co-insurance, and/or deductibles. A number of resources are available to help with these costs and can reduce or even eliminate what you pay out of pocket. Project Inform has an excellent flow-chart that explains your options for affording PrEP: http://www.projectinform.org/pdf/PrEP_Flow_Chart.pdf

Many of the medical providers listed on the following page will be able to offer assistance in signing up for health insurance and applying for payment assistance programs. If a site convenient to you cannot offer you such assistance, or you have other questions about whether PrEP may be right for you, please contact Daniel Davidson at the CT Department of Public Health @ 860-509-7754 or Daniel.davidson@ct.gov
